

Asian Flu Hits East, Inland to Kansas

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shock wave of Asian flu—a wintry friend of death—is hitting the Eastern Seaboard and leapfrogging inland as far as Kansas.

U.S. Public Health Service officials can't say for sure, but the odds are it will spread in local outbreaks across the country.

In a sampling of 108 cities, the Public Health Service reports that pneumonia-influenza deaths have been running over the epidemic threshold for four weeks.

Especially vulnerable are the elderly, the chronically ill and pregnant women.

Asian flu has been confirmed in Maryland, Kansas, Illinois, North Carolina and the District of Columbia.

It is suspected strongly but not yet confirmed in Vermont, Maine, Delaware, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia.

Confirmation is made by laboratory tests of blood specimens from victims to detect the high level of protective antibodies against the virus, and by spotting the virus in throat swabs.

The Public Health Service warned earlier this year that following the normal cycle Asian flu likely would strike the nation hard this winter. For a while it looked as though the warning was wrong.

Then, in mid-January, the pattern of Asian flu appeared. Now it is expected to stay until mid-March when it generally declines.

Asian influenza is one of the "A" type influenza viruses which seem to strike every two or three years. It was first seen in the winter of 1957-58. There was some foreboding when it was identified in Japan and named. Vaccines were hurriedly made against the virus and distributed widely across the United States.

Officials believe that the vaccines took the top off of the epidemic that year—but it still was a great proportion. A wave of the disease in the fall of 1957 was associated with 39,300 excess deaths above the normal death rate. The winter have left 20,000 excess deaths.

It struck the United States again in 1960 and there were 26,700 excess deaths.

From those epidemics, experts have determined that people over 45 are in the risk category—with those over 65 in the area of greatest risk.

McCaskill RCI Group Hears Why Newcomers Decided to Move to Hempstead County

Why would a California rancher, markets for two years before making his move, Mr. Strech had lived in California for 35 years.

This question was answered by Arthur Strech of Olan in a talk given to the McCaskill RCI last Friday night. Mr. Strech, who with his brother-in-law Harry McMillan, moved to Hempstead County about six months ago from Los Angeles, listed six reasons why they transferred their Angus cattle operations to this state.

The six reasons listed were:

1. Availability of reasonably priced land, not to exceed $300 per animal unit.

2. The length of the growing season which is almost as good as that found in the San Joaquin Valley in California, around 270 days per year.

3. Monthly rainfall which in Hempstead county throughout the year varied only 1 1/2 inches from the driest to the wettest month over a span of 10 years. In their country during a vacation. Also area in California most of the rain fell in a 90-period necessitating irrigation for nine months at great cost.

4. Low tax structure. Taxes on California ranch land has increased 900% in 15 years and is $99 above the national per capita tax.

5. A favorable labor market. Labor costs in California are about three times higher than here.

6. A good market for the product. Within a radius of 600 miles of Hope there is a large population and freight rates are cheap because of the shorter shipping distance.

Mr. Strech and Mr. McCaskill had a luncheon stop at the McCaskill theater facts about climate and community center building.

Light Snow in Areas of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A high pressure area moving south out of the Dakotas sprinkled a light mantle of snow over much of northern and central Arkansas this morning, and rain was reported over much of the rest of the state.

Cold wave warnings were issued for tonight, and more rain, sleet and snow was predicted for all sections of the state today and tonight.

State Police reported highways almost normal, despite this morning's icy weather, and said snow was reported only on a few bridges in the northern part of the state.

The Weather Bureau predicted cloudy skies and colder weather today, and cloudy and much colder tonight. Lows tonight were expected to be near 10 north and around 25 south.

Clouds were expected to continue to cover the state Tuesday, with snow predicted for the south-east Tuesday morning.

Temperatures during the next five days were expected to range 10 to 15 degrees below normal, with minor day to day changes. Normal highs are 47 to 61. Normal lows are 27 to 39. Rain and light snow is expected again about the middle of the week.

Overnight lows reported around the state today were generally in the high 20s and low 30s, ranging from the high teens to the mid 30s. Precipitation was reported over most of the state during the 24-hour period ending today at 6 a.m.

State Legislators Trying to Parlay Literacy Issue Into Another Special Session

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The prospect of a special legislative session to deal with voter registration loomed today as the Arkansas Legislature entered the 5th week of its regular session.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said he would not take a hand in the battle over a proposed literacy amendment to the voter registration bill, and would see what the legislature comes up with.

He said in a news conference he could call a special session on the subject if legislation is not satisfactory, or if it is tied up.

Faubus said he would prefer a simple bill without a literacy test. In parliamentary maneuvering last week, Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem put on a filibuster for the bill but lost, at least temporarily.

He promised more action would come today by the pro-literacy faction.

The House repealed a literacy amendment which was put on the bill Wednesday, and then defeated a weaker substitute proposal last Friday.

The bill is designed to replace poll tax registration if the poll tax is outlawed. Four states have passed an amendment to that effect to the U.S. Constitution.

Several minor technical changes already have been made in the proposal, and more have been proposed.

The session thus far has been marked by a lack of dispute over appropriations measures—or at most any bills. The voter registration bill has been the source of most of the excitement in an unusually calm session.

Meanwhile, the General Assembly is nearing the halfway mark with other major problems yet to come.

Among them are a proposal to increase truck weight limits and license fees, and school consolidation.

Sentiment against forced consolidation is apparent, but no dispute has arisen thus far. Opposition to the truck weights proposals reportedly is mounting.

Forty Miles on Interstate Route

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads, in a progress report, says Arkansas has completed 40.7 miles of highways under the interstate and defense highway program at a total cost of $48.2 million.

The program, which includes 517.8 miles in Arkansas, is scheduled to be completed in 1972. The Bureau said the federal government paid $41.1 million of the amount spent thus far in Arkansas.

Traffic accidents claimed eight lives, and seven of them came on the same day.

Traffic accidents killed one at North Little Rock last Wednesday, three at Eltutgart the same day, one at Paragould and two at Lonoke.

Another Arkansan later died as a result of injuries sustained in the wreck at Lonoke.

Also during the week, one person was killed in a fire, one was stabbed to death and one died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy approved today a recommendation of the Marine Selection Board for promotion of former Governor Sid McMATH of Arkansas to brigadier general in the Marine Corps Reserve.

He served two terms as governor of Arkansas, from 1948 to 1952.

U.S. Testing Snarls Talks, Russia Says

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union asserted today that the U.S. plans to resume underground nuclear weapon tests will snarl prospects of an East-West test ban treaty. Negotiations on such a treaty are slated to resume Tuesday in Geneva.

An official Soviet news agency Tass statement declared American resumption of underground tests will "give impetus to a new nuclear arms race."

"The new nuclear blasts, undoubtedly are complicating the talks in Geneva and are hindering reaching of an agreement on the prohibition of nuclear weapon tests, as well as the entire work of the 18 nation committee," the Tass statement said.

"The government of the United States bears full responsibility for the possible consequences of this step."

Tass prefaced its statement by saying that it was instructed to make the statement.

"The renewal of the tests by the United States," said the statement, "throws light on why the United States and other Western powers did not support the resolution of the United Nations."

That was the resolution of Jan. 7, 1962, calling for an agreement on banning tests effective last Jan. 1.

"The secret has become obvious," the statement continued, "and it is especially clear now what were the considerations of the U.S. government in its approach to new proposals of the Soviet government for banning nuclear tests, as related in the recent messages of Premier Khrushchev to President Kennedy."

A similar statement was made by Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister, upon his arrival in Geneva Sunday for the negotiations.

U.S. officials in Geneva were not too concerned by the Kuznetsov statement. They noted that the Russians sent a high-level team to Geneva, indicating an interest in serious negotiations.

First informal meetings between Kuznetsov and William C. Foster, the chief U.S. negotiator, were scheduled at the Soviet villa in Geneva ahead of Tuesday's formal opening.

Faubus to Make AIDC Appointment

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus indicated today that he will take a hand in appointment of a new executive secretary for the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

The AIDC is seeking a successor to William P. Rock, 57, its first and only executive head, whose resignation was announced Saturday.

Faubus said the law under which the commission was created provides for appointment of the executive secretary by the governor with the consent of the commission.

"I let them hire the man (Rock) before and had nothing to say," Faubus said today. "I might do that this time. It would depend on whom they find."

Faubus said he would not stand still for appointment of someone "who is a misfit somewhere else and an expert down here." He did not name names.

Faubus said the resignation did not take him by surprise although he was not notified of it until Saturday, when Rock told him in a personal phone call. He said the resignation had been discussed with him earlier by a member of the commission.

Faubus would not say what effect Rock's resignation might have on a reported move by some legislators to reorganize the commission in an effort to remove its chairman, Winthrop Rockefeller.

Faubus said some lawmakers want Rockefeller relieved because of Rockefeller's Republican Party role in last year's elections.

"This is nothing new," Faubus said. "They talked about it right after the election and they're still talking about it. I don't know how serious they are."

Faubus declined to say how strongly he supports Rockefeller's membership on the commission, but he has indicated in the past that he feels Rockefeller's membership invaluable to the state.

Rock left date of his resignation up to the AIDC's board of directors.

GREENVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A two-car collision killed one man and critically injured another Sunday on U.S. 40 and Mulberry Grove Rd., about 10 miles east of Greenville.

Dead is Paul Pulliam, 62, of Strasburg, Ill.

Donald Mumford, 32, of suburban St. Louis, was in critical condition in the Fayette County Hospital at Vandalia, Ill. State Police said Mumford was a passenger in a car driven by Harlin Gilmore, 27, of (1108 Holly St.) Jonesboro, Ark.

Gilmore and another passenger, Edward Easton, 38, of (746 Markham Ave.) Jonesboro, suffered minor injuries.

Police said Pulliam apparently skidded into the other lane while trying to avoid a car in front of him slowing down to make a turn. Gilmore was coming from the other direction and the two cars collided.

China Rebuffs Soviet Offer of Peace Talks

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP)—Red China rebuffed a Soviet Union overture for peace talks today, demanding that the Kremlin dump Yugoslavia as the price of such a meeting.

"There can be no reversing the verdict repudiating the modern revisionists of Yugoslavia," declared the Peking People's Daily, voice of the Chinese Communist party.

The editorial, broadcast in part by Peking radio, obviously replied to the bid by the Soviet Communist party Sunday for talks by Soviet and Red Chinese authorities as a prelude to any world conference on the Communist rift. It hinted that the Russians seek a meeting between Premier Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung.

Peking called two weeks ago for an international Communist gathering to stem a disunity trend which, it said, has brought the Red bloc to "the brink of the precipice." But the People's Daily balked at Moscow's suggestion of a preliminary meeting between the Red powers.

The paper insisted there must be no deviation from the theme set by the 1957 and 1960 Moscow meetings of Communist parties which denounced Yugoslav "revisionism" as the chief menace to communism.

"The revolutionary forces of the world will under no circumstances permit the export of counter-revolution by the Tito group; differences in the international Communist movement should be resolved

Press Against Four Measures

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Press Association's board of directors has announced opposition to four bills before the Arkansas legislature.

The board opposed House bill 187, which would require all newspaper editorials to be signed by the writer; HB 301, which would require a county judge to publish twice yearly a financial statement of county expenses; HB 143, which would prohibit advertising by firms that prepare income tax returns; and HB 246 which would require drug makers to register their products with the state Board of Health.

Mrs. Louis Bowker, APA secretary-manager, said owners and publishers are responsible by law for what appears in their papers, so HB 187 is unnecessary. She said the bill could be used to intimidate writers.

Powell May Find Capital Very Hot Too

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Adam Clayton Powell returns to Washington from sunny Puerto Rico he is liable to find the capital can be just as warm—even in winter.

For the Democratic chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee will have to face the wrath of his committee colleagues, the scorn of a senator and the displeasure of the administration.

Powell, 53, who is equally at friends home in the pulpit of the Negro Baptist church he heads in New York City, the political clubs of Harlem, and the plush night clubs of two continents, has managed to outrage the sensibilities of an impressive number of people in the past.

A combination of charm, gall and pride has enabled him to act as if he couldn't even hear their angry cries. Now that he has stirred up so many antagonists at once, these traits may not be enough to keep out the rising din of criticism.

The soft voice of Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., rising from the Senate floor, has spoken loudest, calling Powell an authority on "adult delinquency," criticizing his trip abroad with two "lady and questioning the propriety of several government financial transactions favorable to Powell.

at government expense

The muttered comments of Education and Labor Committee members, who feel he has now woundling to the prideful Powell. Potentially most threatening of all to his continued jaunty progress through the House is the still unspoken feeling of some members that Powell is bringing all Congress into disrepute and must be curbed.

His latest troubles began last week. On Monday everything seemed fine. Powell energetically opened an announced two weeks of hearings on President Kennedy's big education bill, fulfilling a promise made to the administration to get right to work on the important measure.

On Tuesday he disappeared. There is no way of knowing if he had learned Williams was going to take the Senate floor that day. However, Powell's favorite method of dealing with such problems has been to make himself unavailable to the press. At any rate, he flew to his home in Puerto Rico, where a spokesman said Sunday night he was just resting and talking to no one.

It may be that Powell deserted the hearings because he has little sympathy for the administration's decision to wrap 24 major education proposals into one sweeping bill with a $5.3-billion price tag and dump it in his lap with orders to consider it as one measure.

Receiving Stolen Property Charged

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) —

Hot Springs Police have charged two Hot Springs men with receiving stolen property and altering engine and identification numbers on 17 automobiles.

The men were identified by police as R. E. Paulson, 39, and W. L. Angel, 42. Paulson is jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond. Angel is free after posting the same amount of bond.

Police said 17 automobiles seized caused the badly divided, leaderless committee to come apart at the seams, nearly wrecking the hearings and further diminishing the already slim chances for the bill, much to the administration's distress.

known to have been stolen were located on used car lots in Hot Springs and stored on the lots. The car dealers apparently were innocent victims, police said.

Police said the scheme worked like this: A wrecked automobile would be purchased, a title obtained, then a car of the same make and model would be stolen, and the title to the wrecked car would be altered to fit the stolen car, and the stolen car would be sold under the title of the Left to right in the photo: Pat Schooley, John Greene and Dick Overturn. In observing the 53rd anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, I would like to give you the statistics, so stated council president John R. Morris, Jr. of Texarkana. Active membership is 5,322,167 boys and adults registered in scouting and at the end of 1962 there were 3,909,485 boys registered, an increase of 99,250, thus scouting is on the upward trend to cleaner or living and better boys in our community, said Weston Greene Committee man, Cadeo Area Council.

The leaders of the Piney Woods District in observance of Boy Scout Week have displayed materials and awards achieved by the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers in Hope. Weston Greene assisted by Mrs. Bob Turner, Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr., Mrs. Bud White arranged the display at Haynes Bros. Dept. Store and wishes to thank all the unit leaders for a job well done in the District.

Dear Helen: We have one child, age five, who is precocious beyond his years, but won't fight for his rights. His playmates, all older than he, pick on him and as a consequence, he takes it out on us, not them. Friends say, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." We don't believe in spanking nor boy so punish him by making him stay in his own backyard. It doesn't always work.

Being an only child, we probably spoil the youngster, too. He's a whiz at playing the organ but won't practice, even though we recently bought him a $2,000 organ. His chums call him "Sissy," and "Mama's Boy." Folks at the office claim he should fight back. I never did — just walked away. People might have called me chicken-hearted but I was healthier that way. Should I encourage my son to put up a fight for his rights? —Frustrated

Dear Frustrated: Yes. To let the other kids call your son a Sissy is an admission that he is one. Make him face those bullies. Build up his morale by teaching him the fundamentals of boxing — young as he is. Join a neighborhood gym and learn with him. Children are like puppies — they must be disciplined. In place of spanking, choose a constructive penalty; withhold from the child something he likes to do. And, above all, don't make the mistake of being over-indulgent! To give a boy of five a $2,000 organ is absurd. It should be presented only when he is capable of appreciating this wonderful possession. A psychologist would say the expensive gift was a sop to your conscience. Lacking the backbone to discipline your child, you sub-

She Told Her!

By HELEN WOREN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You print lots of letters about mothers-in-law. Let me tell you about mine. Our first mistake was building next door to her because the lot was cheap and it would save on the cost of moving materials and tools. Every day she told us about our mistakes in planning; one room was too big, the others too small. Fifteen-minute ever-critical visits occurred from sunup till sundown.

I didn't get my sheets white enough. I took too much pains with my ironing. I used too much soap washing dishes, too little salt and pepper in cooking. On and on, till one Friday she came in when the kids and I were eating sandwiches. We would all go to hell!

That was the last straw. I let her have what was stored up inside of me for the last five years. I told her she had no right to judge me or anyone else; that she did things I wouldn't dream of doing and if she got to heaven so would I. How about facing herself for a change? She had enough money in four different banks to live on the interest from it and stop acting like a starved, ragged bum, and telling me how wasteful I was. What right had she to order me to beat my kids because she beat hers. Then I told her not to come in our home again unless her son was here. I didn't want any more abuse from her, and if she was such a good church member, how about tending to her own soul?

She hasn't been inside our home since. I never mention one word against her to my husband but I detest her more than anyone I know. Neighbors say she has been a cuss all her life. Am I wrong? I have a daughter-in-law now and all I ask is: God grant us to be friends and not judge one another. I don't think my son could have married a finer girl. —New Mother-in-law

Life Is Just a Series of Habits

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—At breakfast you read the cereal box. On the way to work you memorize the car cards. One elderly gentleman—stockbroker type—was recently observed on the subway thumbing through a copy of Shakespeare's "MacBeth" with a look of quiet disapproval.

That's the way it is in a city that has been without a major newspaper for two months.

The hunger for print is so strong that people will read practically anything. But nothing fills the gap.

"I feel like I'm living in a void," complained my wife.

That's the way several millions of New Yorkers have felt ever since a strike shut down the people's university—the daily press—nearly last December.

You never know how much you miss a thing until it is no longer there. And people who have taken their daily newspaper for granted are surprised in how many ways they miss it now that they can no longer buy it.

No other instrument of civilization fills so many various roles as does a daily newspaper. Nothing else serves so many wants, satisfies so many curiosities, circulates so many kinds of information.

Other mass media—particularly radio and television stations—have moved massively here in an attempt to satisfy the people's thirst for news.

But the job is simply too vast or them. It is one thing to watch television announcer read a news bulletin to you. It is quite another thing to pick up a newspaper yourself and read through almost infinite variety as you browse.

The bare bones of big political events can be given adequately over the air. But people are interested in small events, too, and their kinds of information only newspapers carry in detail.

Housewives miss the food ads and the recipes and articles on child rearing they like to clip and save. The businessman misses the announcement of promotions in their firms, and the news of fresh products.

And everybody from teen-agers to pensioners misses the advice to be loved, the interviews with sports and entertainment notables, the Hollywood love squabbles, the medical advice columns.

Most big newspapers carry all these things. But the strike here as demonstrated that just any newspaper won't do.

Many thousands of newspapers—including some of the best in America—have been shipped in and sold here during the last two months. But they haven't filled the gap either.

People like best the local newspaper they are used to. They are most vitally interested in the affairs of their own community. It is big news to them who died, married or was born here—not somewhere else.

And only their own local newspaper can tell them that.

Asks Chance to Do More Comedy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Inger Stevens, a very pretty, blonde, blue-eyed actress who might well be cast perennially in ingenue roles, couldn't be blamed if she were a hypochondriac.

In recent episodes on some of the most popular shows in television she has portrayed a housewife suffering from post-partum psychosis; an ex-heroin addict, a pregnant Roman refugee, a paranoiac and a call girl with a dead heart.

"I feel great," protests Miss Stevens merrily. "At least I can say that I haven't exactly been type-cast on television, although I'd like a chance to do more comedy—and maybe I'll be getting it."

Inger, daughter of a Stockholm school teacher, came to this country when she was 13 and her father received a Fulbright scholarship. Her parents were interested in amateur theatricals, and Inger inherited their love for acting.

With considerable effort and study, the young performer finally got rid of every trace of a Swedish accent and played in American accent. She moved on to television in the days of Playhouse 90, Philco Playhouse, Studio One. Her first television part was that of a Czech refugee, with an accent.

She's a young woman with frank, forthright opinions on most subjects—and a belief that even a theater star has a right to some privacy. For instance, she is interested in a young man, a non-professional, and expects to marry him. But she will not say who he is.

Her job involves a lot of travel—one of a score of survivors in doing a plane crash in Portugal that was taken more than 80 lives.

NO GAME TODAY.—From the automobiles in the parking lot, you'd suspect baseball was in season at the William Shea Stadium in Flushing, named after the man who brought the National League back to New York. Actually, the cars belong to workmen and the new site is not expected to be completed until the middle of the Mets' 1963 season.

Makes Very Unusual Swap of Costumes

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Grimes has made an unusual swap of costumes.

For 17 years he wore the uniform of the New York Police Department.

Most of the time he was a traffic cop. One of his posts was Times Square, about as busy a spot as can be found.

Now he wears the cassock of a Roman Catholic apostolic assistant—a layman who does what he can to help.

And the village of Topawa deep in the heart of the arid, sun-baked Papago Indian Reservation where he and his wife live is about as quiet and tranquil as any in the nation.

In a way he is still handling traffic.

Instead of streams of cars, it is the trickle of mail that passes through the small Indian community. One of his tasks is to act as postmaster.

Grimes is a sturdy, gray-haired man of 39 who decided there were more important things in life than unsnarling traffic—and did something about it.

In 1959 he turned in his badge, came to Tucson and offered his services to the Most Rev. Daniel J. Gercke, then Roman Catholic bishop of the diocese of Tucson. The bishop sent him to the Solano Mission at Topawa, about eight miles south of the reservation headquarters at Sells.

Grimes did whatever needed doing at the mission. Most of it was maintenance and repair work. The village needed a postmaster, so Grimes took over.

"I like this much better than New York," he said. "There is tranquility here, instead of the hustle and bustle of big city living."

Why did he decide he should devote his life to service to God and man Catholic missions?

"That's hard to put into words," he said. "My wife and I decided we should give our time and efforts to the furtherance of God's work. There is a satisfaction in doing for others that you don't get in trying to make a dollar for yourself."

Matt went to the Appliance Building. He flashed his badge to the doorman and went inside. The girl at the switchboard summoned Fred Bernard from the warehouse.

Fred was wearing khaki colored trousers and a faded yellow T-shirt. "Been waiting for you, Pops," said he. "Come we'll dig them things."

Matt followed the little man through the double doors leading to the laboratory workshop. Midway through the room, Bernard turned through a door which led to basement stairway. They went down the flight into pitch darkness.

Bernard pulled a flashlight from his pocket and led the way. The beam showed several large rooms filled with electrical apparatus. At the back was a wide door beyond which was a huge store room directly under the Appliance Building warehouse. A dim light burned on a gooseneck lamp on a desk at the far corner.

Matt could see huge concrete supports but no partitions except a pile upon pile of boxes and cartons and canvas-covered machinery. Bernard led Matt to a corner and threw his flashlight beam on four old-fashioned time clocks.

Grimes did whatever needed doing at the mission. Most of it was maintenance and repair work. The village needed a postmaster, so Grimes took over.

"I like this much better than New York," he said. "There is tranquility here, instead of the hustle and bustle of big city living."

"That's hard to put into words," he said. "My wife and I decided we should give our time and efforts to the furtherance of God's work. There is a satisfaction in doing for others that you don't get in trying to make a dollar for yourself."

Matt took out his billfold and selected three tens, while Bernard licked his lips with anticipation. He took the bills and put them into the pocket of his T-shirt.

"I got it," he took Matt to the battered desk on which the gooseneck lamp burned. He flicked a dirty thumb and leafed through papers on a clipboard. At last he pulled a small sheet loose and handed it to Matt. It was a typewritten order to junk the obsolete time clocks stored in the warehouse basement. It was initialed S. R. with Rispin's name typed beneath the initials.

"Is this the right kind of an order?" "It's from nowhere."

"Why'd you accept it?" "The old man is out to lunch all day. The junior creep never did anything right. Not while I'm here. I called Miss Carson for the invoice numbers and serial numbers for the record."

"Didn't she question it?" "She didn't know from nowhere. Rispin types things himself."

Again Matt examined the order under the gooseneck lamp on the desk. "Got a pen?" he asked.

The warehouseman took one from the left-hand pocket of his T-shirt and handed it to the detective. Matt unscrewed the tip and wrote his initials on the back button.

"I want Cliff Johnson's office bugged," said Matt. "Got a tape recorder?"

Bernard frowned. "Johnson He used the cap of the pen to bump him and he's a pall-bear to build the tape. He pulled up the eraser."

Thornton Wins Over Pastrano

NEW YORK (AP)—Wayne Thornton, a mild-mannered youth from California who turns tiger in the ring, was the latest sensation of the boxing set today.

"The best fighter I've seen out of California since Fred Apostoli," said Madison Square Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner after Thornton's sizzling body slams earned him an upset and unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Willie Pastrano at the Garden in a television bout Saturday night.

As a reward for his well-earned and eye-catching triumph, the unranked newcomer will get a return bout with Pastrano or a match with either Henry Hank of Detroit or Mauro Mina of Peru at the Garden late in March.

That was the plan Brenner and his Garden boss, Harry Markson, had for the streaking Californian.

The decisive victory over Pastrano, third-ranked light heavy contender was Thornton's ninth straight and his 27th in all against two defeats. He has 18 knockouts to his credit.

Nova Scotia Has Ranking Fighter

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer Blair Richardson of Nova Scotia is the latest of boxing's young set to be tapped for a major league debut on American television.

The 22-year-old middleweight from South Bar, N.S., will take on sixth-ranking contender Joey Archer of New York at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Richardson hasn't been handed any soft touch for his Garden and video debut. Archer, a tall, fast-punching 160-pounder has a 33-1 record, including only seven knockouts. The former longshoreman doesn't fight like a dockworker. He's clever, fast-handed and has a stinging left jab to upset aggressive opponents.

Richardson has a 36-3-1 record, including 31 knockouts. This indicates he can punch pretty good. Archer, in addition to being a slick boxer, has a strong chin. He never has been stopped.

Miss Wright Is the Favorite

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Marilynn Smith and Mickey Wright go after the top money today in the St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf tournament in an 18-hole playoff.

Miss Wright, the favorite from Dallas, forced the playoff Sunday when she carded a par 71 for a total of 288. Miss Smith, leader for the first three rounds, wavered on the final nine and came home with a 73.

GOP Favoring Weight Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William L. Spicer, chairman of the Arkansas Republican Party, said Saturday a GOP reviewing committee has decided to favor an increase in truck load limits.

Spicer, of Fort Smith, said the committee believed Arkansas' weight laws should allow loads more in line with other states. Bills are now before the House and the Senate to increase the load limit.

The committee announced its disapproval of a bill which would make representatives of a minority party be appointed to an election commission by majority vote.

"I've got another job for you, Fred," said Matt.

Bernard scuffed the concrete floor with his shoes. "I already stuck out my neck for you."

"A good business man gives a customer more than he expects. It brings him back again."

"How many times do you return, Man?"

Matt took out his billfold. "Five dollars and you want get hurt."

"Twenty-five," said Bernard.

"It's not good business."

"I'm way out as a business man. All I want is green money."

Matt waved a sawbuck in the air. Bernard's greedy little eyes watched it covetously. "I'll tell Corbin Bradley how you helped me."

"Twenty bucks," said Bernard.

Matt added a five to the ten. Bernard's hands shot out.

"Man, you touched the panic button."

"I want Cliff Johnson's office bugged," said Matt. "Got a tape recorder?"

Bernard frowned. "Johnson He used the cap of the pen to bump him and he's a pall-bear to build the tape. He pulled up the eraser."

"I didn't say Johnson did the job. I only want his office bugged. If you can't do it, gimme my money back."

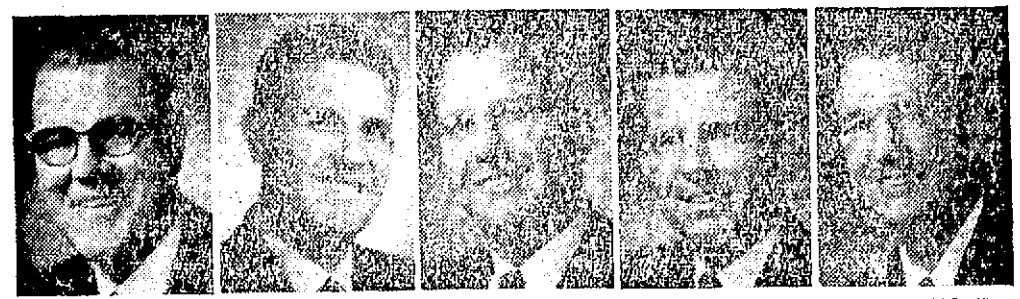

"I'll do it."

Cincinnati Virtually in Titleholder

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two-time national champion Cincinnati, already virtually assured of winning the Missouri Valley Conference Championship and the ticket to the NCAA tournament that goes with the title, is beginning to look ahead to its long, long range goal—the longest winning streak ever by a college team.

The Bearcats, boasting a 37-game winning streak—19 this season—after edging Bradley 65-61 Saturday night, have their eye on San Francisco's all-time string of 60 straight made in 1955-56.

Right now, Cincinnati is tied with North Carolina and Texas for the No. 3 spot. Seton Hall, from 1939 to 1941, and Long Island University, from 1935 to 1937, share the runner-up spot with 39 each.

If Ed Jucker's club continues at its present pace, it could hit the 60 mark just about this time next season.

But there are pitfalls all along the way. This Saturday's game at Wichita is one of them. For one thing, the Shockers never have been any pushover. They whipped the Bearcats early last season, 52-51, just before the current Cincinnati streak got under way. Further, they are 11-1 on their home court this year.

St. Louis, currently in second place with a 5-2 conference record against the Bearcats' 3-0, turned back Wichita 68-61 Saturday night and now has the inside track for a bid to the National Invitation Tournament in New York which usually goes to the runner-up.

Here is how the other major conferences shape up as the season heads into the home stretch:

Big Ten—Illinois, No. 4 in the weekly Associated Press poll on a 14-2 record, 6-0 in the league, crushed Michigan State Saturday 91-66 and appears headed for its first title in 11 years. Defending champion Ohio State and Minnesota both are 5-2. The Buckeyes defeated Wisconsin 94-70 and the Gophers stopped Purdue 80-73 Saturday.

Southeastern Conference—Defending co-champion Mississippi State is 7-1 in the league and 16-4 over-all after getting past Tennessee, 63-59. Auburn still is hanging on at 6-2 and 14-2. Auburn barely beat Georgia 70-67 in overtime Saturday night. Georgia Tech lost two in a row and now is tied for third with Kentucky at 6-3. Louisiana State shocked the Engineers 74-56 Saturday.

Atlantic Coast Conference—Duke, 10-0 in the league, 17-2 over-all and third-ranked behind Cincinnati and Loyola of Chicago, can clinch the regular-season championship with victories over Virginia Wednesday and Wake Forest Saturday. That would give the Blue Devils the No. 1 seeding in the conference tournament starting Feb. 28 in Raleigh. They just did get past North Carolina State Saturday, 56-55.

Southwest Conference—Texas clobbered its No. 1 rival, Southern Methodist 77-62, Saturday to run its conference record to 7-0. Rice now is in second place at 5-2.

Southern Conference—William and Mary upset West Virginia 75-72 Saturday. That gave the Mountaineers a 9-2 record in the league—which is somewhat of a moral victory for the rest of the teams. Rarely does West Virginia lose more than one game in the loop. The Mountaineers still seem assured of entering the conference tournament opening Feb. 28 in Richmond as the top seed.

Big Eight—Colorado swept past Kansas 62-52 Saturday night to run its league record to 6-1. But both Oklahoma State, which broke Iowa State's seven-game winning streak 54-50, and Kansas State, a 100-69 winner over Oklahoma, are hanging on at 5-2. Colorado still must play Oklahoma State and Kansas State, so things are far from settled.

Big Six—Washington, which defeated California for the second straight night Saturday 65-58 leads the pack by a half-game. Second place Stanford polished off UCLA 86-78.

Western Athletic Conference—Both Arizona State University and Brigham Young show identical 4-1 league records. They meet Saturday for the title. A-State defeated the Cougars earlier in the season 89-81.

Ivy League—Cornell is the surprise leader with a 5-2 league record compared to 5-3 each for the favorites, Princeton and Penn. The Big Red hammered Dartmouth 75-62 for its seventh in a row over-all Saturday.

Porkers Blast Baylor But Texas Leads

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas starts the second time around in Southwest Conference basketball this week and its bench strength indicates it might repeat the all-winning first round performance.

The Longhorns have beaten everybody else in the league without a close game, the margin ranging from five to 38 points.

Not since the first two games—against Rice and Arkansas—have the Longhorns been held under a 10-point victory margin and they appear to be getting stronger with each game.

Coach Doc Hayes of Southern Methodist, whose team was a 15-point victim to Texas Saturday, tells why beating Texas is almost hopeless.

"They had been doing the work from the outside, so we set our defense to handle that. But Texas then beats us from the inside with their big men."

Hayes said he figured there were only two chances of Texas losing a game—when the Longhorns play his team at Dallas Feb. 23 and when they take on Rice at Houston Feb. 26.

Texas doesn't appear likely to encounter trouble this week since it plays a couple of the lower teams, engaging Texas Tech at Austin Tuesday night and last-place Texas Christian at Fort Worth Friday night.

Rice, the second-place team with a 5-2 record, can't feel so confident, however. The Owls meet Arkansas at Fayetteville Tuesday and Southern Methodist at Dallas Saturday and those are tough assignments.

Texas could have a virtually insurmountable lead after this week.

The Longhorns breezed to 70-59 and 77-62 victories over Texas two in a row and now is tied for third with Kentucky at 6-3. Louisiana State shocked the Engineers 74-56 Saturday.

Rice held the pace with a 62-54 triumph over Baylor and an 89-77 rout of Texas Tech.

Teas A&M and Arkansas split even for the week and rested in a tie for third place with 4-3 records. The Aggies beat Texas Christian 85-69 after falling to Texas. Arkansas was upset by Texas Tech 80-75 but clipped Baylor 75-65.

Gus Albright, commission news editor, said the total does not include deer killed by bow and arrow.

Deer were legally taken in all 75 counties. Arkansas County had the most kills—2,738, not counting the 1,780 taken in the portion of the county which is in the White River Refuge.

Red Buildup Loses Steam in Cuba

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rumormongering over the size and kind of Soviet forces in Cuba lost much, if not all, of its steam today after the Kennedy administration took unprecedented steps to answer its severest critic on the issue.

Of first concern to Americans was the answer to this question: Are the Soviet forces in Cuba a threat to the United States?

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said no. To prove his case he made a two-hour television presentation late Wednesday, photographs and all, as evidence this country through aerial watch keeps a constant check on doings inside Cuba.

But Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who had been charging the Russians were keeping offensive bases in Cuba, said McNamara had disputed none of his charges.

However, Keating had toned down some of them in an interview with The Associated Press published Wednesday in advance of the McNamara presentation. He agreed he doesn't think the Soviet weapons are poised against the United States or that an invasion is a threat.

And in the interview he backed down from a statement he made only a week ago that there is "continuing absolutely confirmed and undeniable evidence the Soviets are maintaining" the missile bases involved in last October's Cuban crisis with Premier Khrushchev.

He conceded in the interview that he was not talking about huge bases for intermediate range missiles. He said he knows those bases have been broken up.

But it was precisely those bases and those missiles, capable of hitting almost anywhere in the United States, which were involved last fall when Khrushchev backed down and pulled the missiles out.

Next question: Are the Soviet weapons of the kind that could be used for offensive purposes at all?

Again McNamara said no. And, when he said that, he included Soviet tanks, planes and certain kinds of missiles of very short range. He said the planes could not be used for bombing to back up an invasion.

He said "I am satisfied there are no offensive weapons in Cuba."

The most Keating could say on this was that he thinks the men and weapons present a threat.

Next question: Could the Soviet forces in Cuba, men and weapons, be an invasion threat to any Latin-American country? If they couldn't be an invasion threat they could hardly be any threat at all.

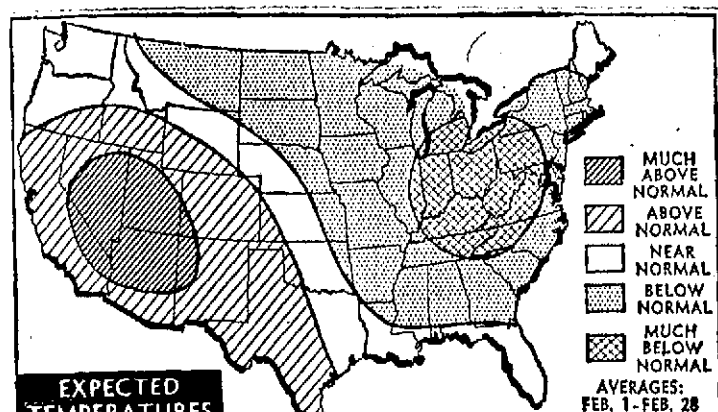

Once more McNamara said no. He gave his reason: That Fidel Castro doesn't have the kind of shipping necessary to move the Soviet equipment from Cuba to any other country.

Keating was very cautious on this one. He said he thinks the Soviet forces in Cuba are forming the "base of operations in other Latin-American countries." He said there were still bases in Cuba for missiles with a range of 1,000 miles.

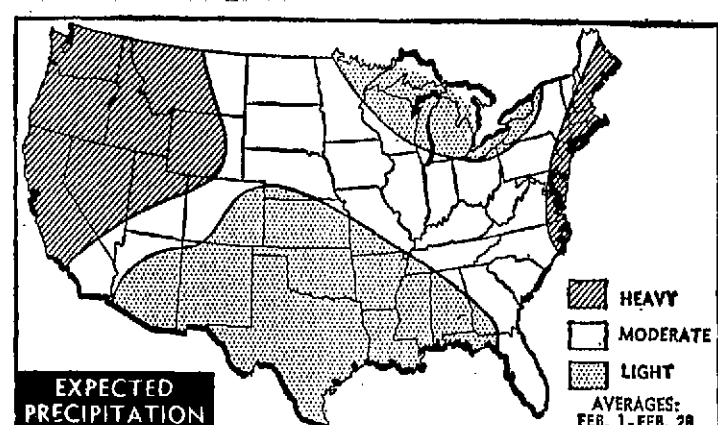

(McNamara denied this. He said the only ground-to-ground missiles in Cuba will go less than 30 miles.)

But—Keating said he doesn't think it possible to launch a great invasion from Cuba against some Latin-American country although "it's possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin-American countries without our knowledge."

What then is left of Keating's

County Completes Sabine Program

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—The Sebastian County Medical Society became one of the few counties in the state Sunday which have attempted Sabin oral polio vaccine immunization programs and succeeded.

The Sebastian program aimed at 61,000 persons, and immunized about 53,000. Most programs in the state have fallen short of their goals.

The figure represents about 70 per cent of Sebastian County's population. The program was held in conjunction with immunizations in Logan, Franklin, Scott and Crawford counties. Figures on the other counties were not available Sunday night.

Fort Chaffee supplied two helicopters to transfer vaccine from clinics which exhausted their supplies Sunday.

warnings and misgivings about the Soviet men and arms in Cuba? Not much. He said the Soviets have at least 20,000 men in Cuba. McNamara said they did once have 22,000 but now have only 17,000 and that only 5,000 of them are in combat units.

Before McNamara went on the air the American intelligence chief, John A. McCone, gave senators a fill-in. Some of them later said the problem was "critical" or of "concern." That was before McNamara talked.

Last August Keating began warning of a Soviet buildup in Cuba. The Kennedy administration minimized his warnings then. But the buildup was real, as the administration found out and admitted later in its showdown with Khrushchev.

This time—as before—Keating has offered no proof but this time his argument looks over-inflated. Soviet weapons and arms, so long as they stay in Cuba will be a problem. But that's a long way from being a danger or threat.

But, if Keating accomplished nothing else, he pushed the administration into doing something brand new in American history: Defending itself for two hours on television and even showing aerial pictures it took of Cuba. This in the end may work against the U.S. intelligence efforts.

McNamara said on the air: "We considered it so important to expose to you the extent of our knowledge that we have done so, even at the risk of degrading our intelligence capability."

Iraq Rebels Mopping Up Communists

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq's rebel regime fought Communist holdouts in Baghdad and the major port of Basra today but appeared to be in control of the country.

To prove that overthrown Premier Abdel Karim Kassem really is dead, the rebels showed his body on television. Travelers said he was tried in the rubble of his office by a drumhead court Saturday, forced to sit on a sofa and machine-gunned.

Reports to Tehran from frontier towns said armed Communists invaded Basra Prison Sunday and freed about 1,500 Communists and criminals. The government was reported withdrawing forces from the border with Kuwait and moving them to Basra to fight the communists.

In Baghdad, Communists were reported resisting with small arms fire in heavily populated areas. Raiding parties fired on their houses with rifles and 50-caliber machine guns.

Members of the nation's new National Guard, formed under revolt leader Col. Abdel Karim Mustafa, were reported to have joined Iraqi regular troops fighting Communist holdouts.

Mustafa heads a six-man junta which announced Saturday the appointment of transitional President Abdul Salem Mohammed Aref and a Cabinet but kept supreme powers for itself.

Baghdad radio announced the execution of four army officers—three colonels and a major—as "criminals and traitors." The revolutionary government announced previously the execution of four other officers, including Kassem.

Two Americans arriving in Beirut from Baghdad, Edward Foley, an engineer from White Plains, N.Y., and Peter Morton, an architect from Boston, said hundreds probably died in the defense of Kassem's office.

The premier shot it out with the attackers until dawn Saturday, when his ammunition gave out, the Americans said.

Airplane passengers arriving here and in Tehran agreed that the rebels had consolidated their hold and were being opposed only by last-ditch Communists.

In Washington, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said the Damage to Highways More Costly

By LEN TALIAFERRO

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas highways apparently will be more heavily damaged by cold weather this year than last year when damages ran over $1 million.

State Highway maintenance engineer Dick Winfrey said that while no official estimate shave yet been made, some districts have reported that damages so far this winter equal all of last winter.

Winfrey said that Northwest Arkansas is showing signs of more damage than other parts of the state but that it was too early to forecast where the heaviest damage will be.

He said that much of the damage would not become apparent until after the ground completely thaws in another month or so.

"It could be May or June before all damage signs are apparent," Winfrey said.

The engineer pointed out that most cold weather damage occurs on weaker blacktop roads and on dirt and gravel roads.

The damage is caused when moisture in the roadbed freezes and expands, causing chunks of the road to "shell out." The deeper the ground freezes, the more the road is damaged. Frost goes deeper as long as freezing weather continues.

Winfrey said that in the Harrison area ground froze as deep as 18 inches in some places.

He said cold weather has little affect on bridges and that it could actually help tighten up some of the old wooden bridges.

Winfrey said that engineers could spot cold weather damage before it became noticeable to the untrained eye. One of the most obvious signs occurs when the roadbed "alligators" and looks much like a dried riverbed. These areas will occasionally have sunk-in places ahead of them.

Winfrey said repairs would be made when weather permits.

new government's chances to survive look good. He said he doubts that Kassem's overthrow was inspired by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, although the new regime probably will be friendly to Nasser.

Ball said Kassem had been moving from neutralism toward communism. To the extent that the new regime is anti-Communist and can keep order, these are good omens, Ball said.

Bobcats Slam Camden Senior, Junior Teams

By CARTER HARDAGE

Saturday, the Bobcats took a much needed Conference victory at Camden's expense. Hope's Junior Boys bruised Camden 35-27, while the Senior Boys whipped the Panthers 67-53.

The Kittens led by strong scoring of Jack Watkins, rambled to a 35-27 victory over the Cubs. The Juniors popped into a 9-8 edge for the Quarter, but they fell behind 20-17. Camden lost the touch however and the Third Quarter found Hope out front 30-24, and at the final buzzer it was Bobkittens 35, Cubs 27. This runs the Junior's Conference record to 6-1. Also, they have won 9 of their last 10 games, losing only to Malvern by 2 points.

Jack Watkins was high for Hope with a big 20 points. Jack has the distinction of scoring more points in one game than any other Kittens. Others scoring were: Ramsey and Ingram 5 each, Parris 4, and McGill 1.

Coach B. W. Mitchell expressed the general sentiment of every one toward the Senior game, as he said "It's the best we've had." The Cats took a 14-12 lead at the Quarter, but a 34-24 gap separated Hope from the Panthers at the Half. Hope continued to lead at 53-31 for the Third Quarter and finally ended up on the top side of a 67-53 score. Hope's Conference record is 5-2.

Oaklawn Is Getting Set for Opening

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Oaklawn Park's 27th racing meeting begins here next Saturday with the newest attendance and mutual handle records only a year old.

General Manager Sweeney Grant predicts new ones. Attendance last season rose 5.6 per cent to 400,456 and betting increased 13.3 per cent to $24,278,677. Both are records. Grant said he doesn't expect as large increases percentage-wise, but nevertheless increases. The past indicates he's right. Records have gone up each year since the 1960 state legislature expanded the season from 31 to 42 days. Some 1,100 horses will be at the Skortonki of Chicago, who rode the "Challenge Me" in winning the 1944 Arkansas Derby. Other jockeys returning include Eugene Curry, Hurlan Dalton, Bill Collier and Willie Skuse.
